

Wandell tops ticket

by Jeff Nazzaro

Political newcomers Dan Wandell and Jim Rooney rode clean-nose campaigns clear to victory, as 27 percent of the town's voters came out to fill two open seats on the board.

Wandell topped the ticket, gaining support from 46 percent of the 3,210 residents casting votes. Rooney was a close second, trailing Wandell by only 14 votes.

Selectman Gerald Duggan was ousted from the board, finishing third and 400 votes behind the front-runners, while Mark Haldane and Tom Siracusa brought up the rear, earning 813 and 698 votes, respectively. The second seat was left vacant by two-term selectman Chester Bruce's retirement.

"I think the people have spoken and I think they want the selectmen to get back to business and get away from the divisive politics that have been going on," Wandell said Monday night.

Both Wandell and Rooney credited their "clean" campaigns as the key to victory.

"I think that we ran a good campaign," Rooney said Monday. "We did our best to keep it clean and not talk about the opposition."

While Wandell was making the most of an endorsement from Rep. James Miceli and Rooney was building on the support that brought him 35 votes from the board last year, Duggan was mired in a mud-slinging campaign with Siracusa, Haldane and Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy. McCoy was not a candidate, but endorsed Siracusa and Haldane and took out newspaper ads against Duggan.

But the winners were ready get started and help forge a positive start for the new-look board of selectmen, which held its first meeting Tuesday night.

"I think we're at a new beginning here and I don't think you'll see any of the shenanigans that have taken place in the past," Rooney said.

Danielle Wandell, 11, right, bore her share of the Saturday afternoon campaigning with friend Amy McComber, 11. The work paid off for Danielle, as her grandfather, Dan, won a convincing election to the board of selectmen (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Allan moves for special meeting to elect chairman

by Jeff Nazzaro

The tones were more civil and the mood definitively lighter as Wilmington Selectmen welcomed two new members and "a new beginning" Tuesday night to a board immersed of late in personal politics. Chairman Michael McCoy called it "a new board, a new day, a new beginning" and a chance for the five members to work together on town business.

A typical order of business for selectmen this time of year is the reorganization of the board, namely, the electing of a new chairman. Chairmanships run for one year, concluding with Annual Town Meeting. This year's election will take place at a special meeting to be held Monday, April 24 at 10:00 p.m., after a 4-1 vote initiated by Selectman Diane Allan.

Selectman Robert Cain cast the lone vote against the measure.

The late start is to accommodate McCoy, who said he has to work at his restaurant that night. Allan amended her motion to read 10:00 instead of 7:00. McCoy promised to bring pizzas and Pepsis to the meeting.

Allan requested the special meeting of the board for the sole purpose of reorganization, making a motion and gaining a second from newly elected Selectman Jim Rooney.

But under discussion, Cain objected, stating that reorganization usually takes place at the first regularly scheduled meeting that follows town meeting, in this case, May 8.

"Is there a reason that it needs to be moved up?" Cain asked. "This is an item that should be handled at a regularly scheduled meeting ... why do we have to move it up?"

Allan, however, saying only that the May 8 agenda appeared full, restated her wish for the special meeting.

"I just thought it could be a quickie," Allan said. "Have that one agenda item and get in and out of here."

McCoy offered no objection, and he and Allan worked peaceably to set a time and date for the special meeting. McCoy did offer to hold the reorganization at Tuesday's meeting.

"Do it tonight," he said. "Come on, let's do it."

But Cain felt the personal politics was reemerging.

"Why are we getting started off into this vein already?" he inquired.

Following the meeting, Cain and McCoy said they felt Allan was poised to assume the chair, and wanted to do so as soon after town meeting as possible.

"She has the votes," McCoy said.

Cain said he was interested in the chair, and McCoy said he supports that move.

"I think I could do a better job as chairman, or a fine job as chairman," he said, adjusting his statement, "and end this petty bickering."

Allan would not comment to reporters as to why she requested the special meeting. McCoy took a quick poll of those present to see what they liked on their pizza.

Saturday is "Rubber Duckie Day"

The Rubber Duckies are set to duck into the Shawsheen River and race the Shawsheen Aqueduct (Wilmington / Billerica town line on Rte 129) down river to a point near the end of Grace Drive. Saturday at 2 p.m. as the Wilmington Kiwanis Club launches their first ever Rubber Duckie Race. Two thousand duckies have been sold to the residents of Wilmington. The owner of the first duckie across the line will win $1000.

The Kiwanis Club is asking those who might like to watch the race not to park on Rte 129 but to park on a side street to avoid any accident.

The money raised by this race will be put right back into the community on May 13 at the club runs their Bicycle Safety Rodeo at the Swain School.

Swasey takes center stage at town meeting - again

by Jeff Nazzaro

The inhabitants have been notified and warned and, come Saturday, a few hundred of them will tackle 49 articles in the high school gymnasium for 1995's Annual Town Meeting.

Barring any unforeseen great debates, this year's edition of the big meeting should proceed fairly rapidly - there are no major controversial articles on tap.

Town Manager Michael Caira and the finance committee are in near agreement on the budget, with the latter's weighing in at $48,055 less than the manager's, most of that reflected by a proposed cut of Recreation Director Ron Swasey's salary. Swasey's job, after receiving inclusion in the budget by Caira, is on the FinCom chopping block for the second straight year.

Last year, town meeting overwhelmingly voice-voted Swasey's job back into the budget after a brief discussion. The committee will again say that "given the town's limited resources, it can no longer afford the luxury of a full-time Recreation Director."

The response will likely be that given the services and activities Swasey coordinates and the fact that he fund-raises more than he's paid, what's to afford?

The other appropriation question comes under Article 6 and capital equipment, namely, police cruisers.

The department is once again, with Caira's approval, asking to replace all five front line cruisers, this year at an estimated $94,635. The FinCom is recommending two cruisers - at a cost of $37,854 - and that the town "discontinue the practice of replacing front line cruisers each year." Town meeting went with the five last year.

Beyond that, the usual business seems to be at hand. Articles 39 through 48 deal with amendments to the zoning by-laws, many of which were recommended for disapproval by the planning board and FinCom - these will generate discussion.

Others of interest include a proposed senior citizen "tax work-off" program (Article 16), amendments to the zoning by-laws not pertaining to specific parcels (Article 25) and a proposal to amend the site plan review section of the zoning by-laws (Article 26).

Thank You

To the 1459 voters who supported my candidacy for the Board of Selectmen, my sincerest gratitude. The number of people who responded positively to the high standards of our campaign was reassuring.

To my family, my committee and everyone else who worked so hard during my campaign, your dedication will never be forgotten.

I look forward to serving the townspeople with dignity and compassion and to bring unity to the Board so we can carry on with the town's business.

Sincerely
Jim Rooney

A ROOF OVER THEIR HEADS

Some loving parents plan to give the family home to their children. But how the house is given and when presents tax consequences. Giving the house as a gift presents two negatives: the transfer will trigger a gift tax or use up the parent's gift and estate tax exemption, and the property retains the donor's basis, or tax cost. If the children sell, they incur a large capital gain. (If they use the house as their residence, though, the gain could be deferred.) Bequeathing the house steps up the basis to the market value at the time of the donor's death; the house could be sold almost tax free. One way to save on estate taxes is to fund a Grant Retained Interest Trust (GRIT), naming the children as beneficiaries. The home is put in trust and the donor continues to live in it for a specified time, after which the children own it. If mom and dad continue to live there, they must pay fair market rent. Because the gift is time delayed, its value is lower for gift tax purposes. We know the ins and outs of tax savings. Talk to us at

Easter Seal program coming to Mill Brook

Youngsters at Mill Brook Country Day School in Wilmington will learn about physical disabilities during the week of May 1 through a special Easter Seal program, sponsored by TJ Maxx and Business Equipment Depot. The Easter Seal Hop-n-ing teaches children about the cause of disabilities and their effects of people's everyday lives. The children also find out how wheelchairs, crutches and other specialized equipment work. The next part of Hop-n-ing gives the kids a chance to help. They hop as many times as they can in three minutes, earning money pledged for each hop by family and friends. Funds raised help provide Easter Seal services for men, women and children with disabilities. Services include summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health-care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, technology for independence, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services. Last year more than 16,000 children across Massachusetts learned about disabilities and hoped for Easter Seals, raising nearly $217,000.

VICA students to be honored

State competitors from the Mass. Skill Olympics Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) will be the honored guests at the Wed., May 3 annual spring meeting of the Tech Advisory Committee at the school. Dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. prepared by the school's Culinary Arts Department. "Advisors have so much to do with the quality of our program which prepare students for successful competition, as well as a smooth school to work transition," said Anthony Bazzinotti, director of vocational training programs of the program selection. Following dinner, members of the 19 individual program advisory committees will meet to discuss curriculum, materials, and equipment and make recommendations to the school. "This is important for us so we can keep programs current and train our students to be receptive industry's needs," added Bazzinotti. Each year, advisory committees make recommendations that influence the employability of students. Nearly 300 representatives of business and industry who serve on Shawsheen program advisory committees have been invited to the spring meeting, which also includes a gathering of the general advisory committee, one representative from each of the 19 technical programs who meet with the administration and school committee following the individual committee meetings, to discuss the evening's events. Minutes of the program advisory meetings are kept for review and possible implementation.

Performance – not personalities

by Mike Burns

First of all, I am a member of the five-member Wilmington Recreation Commission, whose responsibilities include overseeing the Recreation Department and the Recreation Director, Ron Swasey. If you feel that fact sways the following, I can assure you that it does not.

Once again this year, the Finance Committee has recommended that the position of Recreation Director be eliminated. The Town Manager has opposed this recommendation. The Recreation Department is presently staffed by the director and one part time clerk/secretary. The town manager and the finance committee have both recommended that the part time position be increased to a full time position. However, the finance committee has recommended that the director's position be eliminated.

Last year, the Recreation Department ran 79 various programs or events. Well over 7,000 residents participated in one or more department events or programs. Many of these programs had increased participation to the highest numbers ever. Programs such as the Rec Summer Playground, the Rec Basketball leagues and Rec T Ball enjoyed record numbers of participants. Incidentally all of the Recreation Department's programs are self sustaining and in fact turned back to the town over $8,000 in 1994.

By all criteria, the Wilmington Recreation Department has been extremely successful, indeed not only last year but in past years as well.

Why then, you might well ask, does the Finance Committee again recommend that the director's position be eliminated, remembering full well that the same recommendation was defeated at town meeting last year?

Unfortunately, as we see all too often, personalities between members of the Finance Committee and Ron Swasey seem to be the underlying cause for this recommendation again this year. As we have seen in recent selectmen's meetings, things can get totally out of hand when personal grudges and dislikes become the driving forces, rather than performance.

After 23 years as director, Ron Swasey must and should be judged upon performance in his position, not upon whether he is well liked by members of the Finance Committee. Clearly, the outstanding participation, the demonstrated success of the Recreation Department and indeed the demand for even more programs indicate an extremely successful department.

Remember the old Yankee adage, "If it isn't broke, don't fix it," reward performance and join me in voting against this Finance Committee recommendation.

Letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

The Republican Contract with America, most of which was passed in the first 93 days of the 104th Congress, is perhaps less of a partisan document than it is a collection of common sense reforms. We've all heard the horror stories about bloated government bureaucracies, welfare cheats, endless appeals by death-row inmates and million dollar awards in suits for apparently frivolous reasons. Most of us are tired of hearing such stories and have been frustrated for years over why the government can't fix these seemingly outrageous abuses to society. The contract with America is finally the first step in a long overdue process to correct the problems previously created by an out of touch and unresponsive government.

The new Republican Congress has taken the leadership role itself by eliminating many needless committees, reducing staffs and agreeing to live under the same laws as you and I. From here, Congress then brought up and voted on the popular issues of a balanced budget amendment, strengthening American families, regulatory reform, welfare reform, the prevention of unfunded government mandates, tax cuts for the middle class and even term limits for politicians. All passed, usually with significant Democratic support, except for term limits. And Speaker Newt Gingrich has promised that term limits will be the first item on the agenda for the next congress in 1997.

We all know that sometimes government bureaucrats go overboard and pass regulations that make little sense. To correct these and other governmental abuses, the Speaker has proposed setting aside one day each month as "Corrections Day," where any member can bring to the floor a questionable government dictate for discussion and possible repeal by Congress.

Finally, I am proud to say, "What a Country!"

Ted Tripp,
Wilmington

Dear Larz:

On Monday, April 10 I, like so many other Wilmington residents, was "treated" to the Monday night debacle at the Town Hall. This embarrassment, called town government, should be enough to warrant a recall election of all (except Chet Bruce, how lucky he must feel now!). Never before have so many self serving individuals been assembled in one room, at one time. Objectively is a foreign concept; self-indulgence is practiced daily.

Wouldn't it be nice if just once town government consisted of individuals who genuinely cared about the town and not about filling their own or their relatives' pockets. Wouldn't it be nice if just once town government was dominated by the common homeowner with no business or family interests to protect. In Wilmington this appears next to impossible to achieve.

By the time this letter is published, the Town Election will be a memory. I only hope that we learned the lesson taught to us last week by our selectmen. We need change. Fast!!

Sincerely,
Steve Fogarty

Dear Larz:

I would like to respond to the recent complaints about the train whistles in town. As a resident who happens to live next to the Boston and Maine rail lines, I feel qualified to speak out on this issue.

When we bought our home near the tracks, we were very concerned with the children playing on the rail bed. The fact that the long, rumbling, noisy freight trains and fast moving commuter trains went by our house day and night as something we learned to live with. Horns blasted at local kids riding motor bikes down the track beds, or just walking along the tracks after school on a short cut home.

There were many a hot, summer night when I awoke from the three engine freight with 50 or more rail cars stopped on the tracks right outside my window at two o'clock in the morning. Do you know how it feels to have diesel smoke drift into your bedroom on an 85 degree, humid evening?

Well, I put up with it all these years because I knew that the railroad has been here since the late 1800's and who am I to complain? After all, I was the idiot who bought a home near RR tracks. I knew what I was getting into, and anyone who buys a home near railroad tracks and then complains about noise has got to be plain stupid! It is like someone who buys a home near an airport and then complains about the air planes buzzing over the house. It is like someone who swims in shark infested waters when signs posted say "SHARKS." Just plain stupid!

If you don't like train whistles, say make damn sure you never purchase a house next to railroad tracks. Why? Because every once in a while a big steel monster rolls along those tracks and gives off lots of smoke and ear splitting blasts from it's big air horns, that's why.

If folks don't take to those loud horns and whistles, may I suggest they move out to the woods far away from the tracks. Just please, spare me, and many of my fellow citizens, the expense of a study that will report to us that, Yes, train whistles are loud. Such complaints are frivolous and tie up our town officials who could be working on more important matters. As our Old Yankee townsfolk would say, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen, stupid!!"

Respectfully yours,
Mike Kelley

Dear Larz:

Hold onto your hats, boys and girls! We are riding on the legislative fast track, and Representative Jim Miceli is at the wheel! This is The Committee to Stop the Train Whistles in Wilmington with an important update. Rep. Miceli has informed us that he has filed legislation to achieve our goal of the discontinuance of all train whistles at properly protected railroad crossings in town and it has already passed in the House! He is working with Senator Bruce Tarr to ensure passage in the Senate as well. He will also make sure that the remaining ungated crossings will be gated as soon as is feasible so that our town will be safe and whistle free.

He watched the board of selectmen's meeting of April 10, saw the great turnout (thanks very much) and empathized with our situation. He decided to act to greatly speed up the process for us. Our highest compliments and our deepest thanks to Rep. Miceli for his swift action and continued support. He is optimistic for its passage and has promised to see it through to the end. Together our voices have proven much louder than any train whistle.

Thanks also to the chairman and other members of the board of selectmen and the town manager for providing us with a forum for discussing this issue. Your expressions of support and thoughtful discussion are greatly appreciated. Special thanks to Selectman Nancy Tavernier of Acton and Mr. Leo Doherty of Andover for their guidance and assistance and for providing us with copious information from their hard work and research on this matter.

We will continue to monitor the situation and write these updates as necessary. Chairman McCoy mentioned that he would like to have us and our legislative delegation back at the May 8 selectmen's meeting. Please attend this meeting to show your continued active support for this issue. Imagine there's no train whistles...it isn't hard to do...

Tewksbury

The Tewksbury Youth Center, on Livingston Street, due to fiscal restraints, closed since 1981, was again "alive and kicking." Dave Harrington and Steve Carter were among the volunteers who were present Friday and Saturday evenings when the Center was open.

A Tewksbury couple allegedly plagued by strange and unexpected occurrences, remained in their home while a Connecticut couple who studied such phenomena prepared to call in someone they claimed could bring a halt to them.

Paula DeBenedetto was the winner of a home entertainment system in a drawing held by Central Savings Bank was pictured with Central's Branch Manager Ted Cawley. Anna Dillon won a 19" Sony remote control color tv.

Cadet Lloyd Corricelli of Astle Street, TMHS '93, was awarded the Air Force ROTC VFW medal for outstanding contributions to Air Force ROTC and continuing work with service veterans.

The Junior Varsity Baseball team came up with three victories in one week and upped its record to 4-0.

When planning board members Robert Sullivan and Robert Fowler were unable to make it to the meeting, the remaining three members unanimously voted them chairman and vice chairman of the board.

Every year at 2 a.m. on a day in April the Wilmington Minutemen march off to Concord from Wilmington Town Common. Nothing has ever stopped them from meeting the Regulars at Miriam's Corner. But not this year. This year the Rev. Allan Bryan from the Methodist Church stopped them in front of his church. He read them missive:

To All Minute Men

Hear Ye Waters. If ye vanquish from this sweet soil of yourn all devils in red coats, I pledge thee gifts magnanimous. Return to port before a fortnight and when ye drive all the king's men to sea, I shall open my galley to thee: 500 kegs of powder for ye cannon; 1000 casks of season wine for ye comfort; a maiden for each troupe to sweeten his dream and a blazing sermon to swab his guilt.

I pledge thee this bounty as captain of Skerryvore before she hangs her laundry out and as minister of ye Savior, before the scurvy devil should catch thee athwart the aft.

Thus bolstered, Captain Let lead his troops off into the cold and dark night.

Margaret Kane makes world of difference

Mrs. Margaret Kane of Wilmington was recently named the recipient of one of ten 1995 World of Difference Awards in New England, awarded by the World of Difference Foundation for devotion to multiculturalism in the curriculum.

Mrs. Kane is a past member of the Wilmington School Committee and an English teacher at Medford High School.

She developed, with Mr. Ramon Finner of the Medford High School social studies department, an interdisciplinary curriculum "The Creation of the Articulate Citizen," along with a multicultural curriculum for grade nine students.

As part of the award, Mrs. Kane will receive a $500 cash prize and a medal, to be presented at an awards ceremony and dinner May 18 in Boston.

The World of Difference Award is by nomination only, and the curriculum developed by Mrs. Kane has been recognized for its broad literature based in multicultural reading, its ability to reach into the 21st Century, and for being on the cutting edge of curriculum reform. The curriculum includes such concepts as outcome based assessments, performance assessment, and dependence on speaking and presenting, in addition to reading and writing.

Mrs. Kane's contributions have brought the World of Difference Award to the Medford High School English department for the second consecutive year, an honor achieved by no other high school in New England.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

ACCIDENT OR OCCURRENCE

QUESTION: What's the difference between an accident and an occurrence in a Comprehensive General Liability policy.

ANSWER: The difference may decide whether you collect on your claim or not. Your policy may be written to cover only property damage and bodily injury caused by an accident. In this case, it would not cover you for damage that occurs over a period of time. This would be termed an occurrence. Suppose a heater flue was improperly installed and fumes escaped over a period of time causing gradual sickness. Not an accident—not covered. This can be avoided with a personal injury occurrence endorsement.

WHETHER A LOSS is caused by an accident or an occurrence can make a big difference.

O'Donnell issues portfolio report

by Linda Jarossi

Superintendent Geraldine O'Donnell presented a report to the school committee at the last meeting regarding the use of portfolios in the classroom. She explained that teachers are using portfolios, mainly in writing, but also in other areas, to enhance the learning process.

O'Donnell said that many of the teachers are "overwhelmingly approving of portfolios." One of the advantages of using them is that it allows students to see the progress they're making. "It does help to inspire self-confidence in students to see how far they've come," she said.

A disadvantage of using portfolios is the amount of time required to maintain them she said. The teachers who are including portfolios in their classes are spending a lot of extra time maintaining them.

There are three types of portfolios currently being used by 41 percent of the teachers. One type includes working drafts, another type called a "process" portfolio includes both working drafts and the final product, and the "showcase" portfolio includes only completed work.

O'Donnell said it seems that this is an effective teaching method. The next step will be "to formalize this in terms of staff development," she concluded.

Later in the meeting parent Leane

Schofield addressed the committee about her concerns regarding procedures followed in cases where parents object to material being taught. She said her kindergarten age child told her she learned about "good touch and bad touch and a child being molested." Her feeling was that she should have been notified before this material was presented.

The superintendent told Schofield that she should meet with the school principal to discuss this issue, as the school committee has no jurisdiction over the curriculum set. If she is not satisfied with the results of that meeting then the next step would be to meet with the superintendent. Schofield said she has had this problem in the past and has gone through all the steps and "hasn't gotten any satisfaction."

Committee member Bradford Jackson said that the school committee meeting was not the proper forum to be discussing this issue since it was technically out of order, as it was not an agenda item, and all parties involved were not present. He said he was in no way trying to downplay the importance of Schofield's concerns, but explained that the committee had no power to address this issue. He encouraged Schofield to meet with the principal to see if an understanding could be reached, and if she was not satisfied then she could "turn (her) attention to the superintendent's office."

'Service' focus of conference

Jeanette Tight, district manager, with Carlson Real Estate Better Homes & Gardens attended the 1995 Better Homes & Gardens International Business Conference and Convention in Orlando, on February 22-26.

"As a company, our main focus at the business conference was on providing the real estate services necessary to provide superior customer service and to recruit and retain the most productive real estate professionals in the market," said Jeanette Tighe. "In addition, today's successful sales associates need and expect access to the technology necessary to help them generate more effective personal relationships with consumers - and can help them increase their productivity. Convention '95 unveiled Better Homes & Gardens innovative technology platform, positioning the network as a leader within the industry."

The real estate service is an operating group of Meredith Corporation, a Fortune 500 diversified media company based in Des Moines, Iowa. The corporation's flagship publication is Better Homes & Gardens Magazine, one of the nation's largest home and family publications, with a readership of 33.2 million. RJM DESIGNS
 19 Lloyd Road, Wilmington, MA
 (508) 658-6817

You've made the decision to add on to your home, but there are still so many questions. Should you add one room... maybe two... a new dormer... a room off the back... a second floor... an inlaw apartment? You have an idea of what you'd like, but you can't quite picture the finished product. You may even have already chosen a builder but, after looking through all his plans, you haven't seen anything that quite matches what you had in mind. Maybe it's time to call a residential designer.

Richard Medeiros, owner of RJM Designs, has been a Wilmington resident for 27 years. Even if you don't know him, you've probably seen some of his design work. Richard's projects include Wilmington's Buzzell Senior Richard Medeiros studies a set of plans in his Wilmington office.

Center, the addition to the 4th of July Building, and the WCTV studios.

That's nice, but you weren't planning on anything quite so large. No problem. Richard will tackle any project... from a 12x12 addition, to a complete new home. And, even though designing is his first love, he is also a licensed builder.

RJM Designs is located at 19 Lloyd Road, in Wilmington. Give him a call at 658-6817, and let him make your dream house a reality.

J & E SERVICES
 Automotive Repairs / Snowplowing
 619 Rear Main St., Wilmington
 (508) 657-7950

If you're like most people, you're not replacing the family car as often as you used to. That may save you the expense of a new car, but having an older car often means more repairs and breakdowns.

J & E Services is a full-service automotive repair shop. Stan Hibbins, the General Manager, opened J & E Services three years ago, but he's been repairing cars for 30 years. At J & E they do the usual tune-ups and oil changes and exhaust systems, plus much more... they'll even rebuild your engine.

"When you take your car into a repair shop, it's easy to spend a lot of money," says Stan. "What gets fixed depends on how much you want to spend. Money is the bottom line."

Stan Hibbins and another mechanic check this car on the lift.

Stan will list and prioritize the repairs that are needed. He won't fix something if you don't want him to, but most of all, he "won't fix what isn't broken."

At J & E, oil changes are $18.95 (plus tax) every day. Their "lifetime exhaust" isn't just a muffler, it's everything - from converter to tail pipe. Towing services are available. And, they offer gift certificates - a perfect gift for kids, parents, or anyone with a car!

J & E Services is located at 619 Rear Main St., Wilmington (behind Plate Escape). They're open M, T, Th, F: 8-8; W: 8-6; & Sat: 8-5. After hours, leave a message on the machine!

George Webber called in the name of the Marine in last week's Town Crier, but we managed to lose the note before this writing. So George please call back! While you're at it George, take a look at this sailor. Do you know him?

If George doesn't know who this WWII sailor from Wilmington was maybe you do. Call the Town Crier and help build a permanent display to those valiant men and women who went to war from Wilmington.

George Spanos collected snapshots of the men and women who passed through his restaurant. The Town Crier has possession of that collection now and is seeking the identities of a few of the men and women. Rocco's Restaurant is offering a $10 gift certificate for the information. Wilmington Library notes

Kindergarten screening

Tuesday, April 25, kindergarten screening will take place in the library's conference room. This would be a good opportunity for parents to visit the children's room and obtain a library card for their youngsters who do not yet have one.

"Friends of Many Faces"

Monday, April 24. There are still a few tickets left for next Monday's performance by third and fourth graders which has been planned by Judith Durkee for an audience of kindergarten age children (five and six-year-olds). The well known picture book "Where the Wild Things Are" by Maurice Sendak and Chris Van Allsburg, Jumaji will be interpreted by the acting group.

Book ends

Thursday, May 4. An enthusiastic group of avid readers met during National Library Week to make plans for "Book Ends," the newly formed book discussion group which will be meeting the first Thursday of every month in the library's conference room from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The May 4 meeting will be led by Debra Russo who has volunteered to be the leader for discussion of May's book, Shadow Play: A Novel by Charles Baxter. Anyone wishing to take part in any meeting must have already read the book selected for discussion. There is still time for anyone interested in attending the May 4 meeting to contact the library in order to arrange to borrow a copy of Shadow Play.

"Plug Into Literacy"

May 19. Continental Cablevision came to the library during National Library Week to tape some scenes at the library for a May 19 fund raising telethon for local libraries. The Memorial Library and its immediate needs will be featured along with the public libraries of the four other towns reached by local Channel 6 - those of Billerica, Burlington, Stoneham, and Woburn.

Stone's in the Garden

Acorns? What acorns?

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone
The right tool for the job
My brother-in-law thinks that New Englanders are crazy. During a recent visit, this native Californian saw my neighbor vacuuming his lawn. He didn't understand what every New England homeowner with an oak tree on the lawn should know...a "Shop Vac" is the best and easiest way to pick up acorns!

If you have ever tried to rake acorns you know that they scatter, bounce and escape the rake tines. Well, rake no more. Get out your shop vac and clean up what the squirrels and trees have left behind. This method takes time, but so does raking, and it is blister free!

My shop vac is one of my favorite all purpose garden tools. It has a reversing motor allowing it to both vacuum and blow. The motor is on the top of the device and is portable. As a blower it is great in spring or fall for collecting leaves, especially when the leaves are stuck under shrubs and bushes. And once again those jobs become blister free!

Another tool that gets a lot of garden use is our two wheeled, upright hand truck (dolly). It eliminates lifting bales of peat moss into wheel barrows, makes moving large potted shrubs a breeze, and moves rocks with ease (it seems that rocks are always moving around in our yard).

Speaking of moving rocks...in many New England gardens the rocks are too big to move. In our garden we have several that lay just under the surface. These prevent grass and anything else from growing. We (well actually my spouse with some encouragement from me) have been able to move some of them with the mother of all tools - a lever. Wasn't it Archimedes who said, "With a long enough lever I can move the world?" He must have gardened in New England.

Our lever is an eight foot long, 6 x 6 timber. To move a large rock we dig around it and slowly (inch by inch using the timber and smaller rocks as a fulcrum), roll the rock out of its nest.

Take great care with this type of project. Although use of a lever makes it easier, this can be truly backbreaking work. Wear back protection, gloves and eye protection. We have split at least one lever on a project. If the rock is too big to remove, perhaps just lifting it above the surface will provide some interest to the garden. Remember, our ancestors were able to move the rocks. That's where all the stone walls in our woodlands came from.

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF SELLING 'BY OWNER'

One of the positive aspects of trying to sell your own home is the potential of meeting some terrific Realtors in the process. Most do-it-yourself sellers eventually list their homes with a professional, often one someone responded to their ads or "For Sale" sign.

If you are ready to list your home, how should you select an agent? The most important thing is to find someone whom you like and trust. Look for professionalism and someone who is appropriately aggressive. Which agents followed upon something when they said they would? Which ones stayed in touch during the period you were trying to sell your house yourself? Who provided the best information about pricing, presenting your home, or ideas for effective advertising? An agent who is persistent in selling his or her services will be equally persistent in working to get your home sold.

For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in The Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us at 657-8444.

Gustafson wins service award

Jennifer Lynn Gustafson of Wilmington, has been chosen to receive a 1995 Excellence in Service Award in honor of her commitment to community service. The Excellence in Service awards annually recognize and reward the outstanding achievements of Florida college students who have developed, implemented and worked with community service projects. "I enjoy the feeling I get out of volunteering, yet that is not the sold reason I do so," said Gustafson. "It is my hope that by my participating in community service, others will get the opportunity to do the same."

Gustafson is a student at the University of Miami, in Coral Gables, Florida, where she is majoring in political science with a double minor in psychology and Spanish. She enjoys all aspects of community service from the hands-on efforts to coordinating projects. She took that enjoyment and helped increase the participation in the University of Miami's Alternative Spring Break two-fold. At the same time, she juggles her responsibilities as a Project Coordinator for UM's LINK Executive Board, and advisory board member for Break Away - The Alternative Spring Break Connection, a national non-profit organization. She has taken her passion for community service and transferred it to others. Last year she received the "Campus Gaffe, Stick Your Neck Out" Award for volunteering, which recognizes students who are risk takers and role models.

"Actual hands-on community service makes me feel that I am actually out working to make things better. When I help to repair a hurricane damaged roof I have the ability to see the hard work accomplished before my eyes," said Gustafson, who last year served as a site leader for Hurricane Andrew relief efforts.

"To me, she represents the true spirit of volunteerism, not self-serving, and always focusing on how to make the world a better place," said Dr. Frederick Tims, master of the Hecht residential hall at UM, where she is a residential assistant. "Her enthusiasm pulls in other people, and if she undertakes a task, you can be assured that she will do it at a very high level of quality."

Excellence in Service awards were judged on initiative, on-going involvement with service activities and the impact of their work on the campus and community. The awards are sponsored by Florida's Office for Campus Volunteers, Oxendine Publishing, Inc. and Electronic Date Systems, Inc. Busch Gardens and Eastpak also contributed in-kind donations. The three winners will each be presented with a $500 scholarship at an awards ceremony. During the ceremony Florida Leader will also present the winners for their "Florida College Student of the Year" award. The ceremony will be Friday, April 7 on the 22nd floor of the Capitol Building in Tallahassee, Florida.

Thieves hit Stop & Go

by Jeff Nazzaro
Thieves broke into the Stop & Go sub shop on Middlesex Avenue in North Wilmington before dawn Tuesday morning, getting away with a cash register and $50 in cash, according to Wilmington Police.

Deputy Chief Bernard Nally said an unknown number of perpetrators broke a plate glass window at the front of the shop before making off with the register.

"They just smashed the window, ran in, grabbed the register and ran out," Nally said, adding that police dusted the area for finger prints but have not yet processed the results.

Patrolling officers that Nally said had passed by the shop between a half hour and 45 minutes earlier, discovered the broken window at 3:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Nally said a similar robbery occurred at close to the same time in Tewksbury, but he was not certain if there was a connection.

Wilmington senior topics

Thanks, to Nancy Austin

Thanks to Nancy Austin of Analog Devices and nine other Analog employees who joined senior volunteers Burton Dakin, Jim Davey, Joe and Ruth Filipowicz, Evelyn and Walter Kaminski, Henry Latta, Ann Linehan, Marilyn and Joe McCarthy, Frank Ratto, June and Gerry Thuillier and June VanSteenberg in making Easter a very happy time for 100 shutin seniors, by delivering them a delicious chicken catered dinner last Friday, paid through the generosity of Analog Devices. All involved in the program get a tremendous feeling of satisfaction as they look at the happiness in the faces of these seniors who are homebound most of the time. Thanks again to all for a job well done.

Town meeting coming up

Saturday, April 23, beginning at 10:30 a.m., the annual town meeting will be held in the high school auditorium. Many articles will be taken to the voters for approval or rejection. These articles can or will effect all residents this year and in years to come. Town budget (COA budget included) will also be voted on. It is very important as taxpayers that we all be present. Those who do not attend, have no right to complain when an article is voted against his/her wishes.

If you have never attended a town meeting, why not attend this year and see and hear for yourself why your vote is so important.

Social May 5

The therapeutic social for May will be held in Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks Hall Friday, May 5. A chicken dinner with all the trimmings will be served at 7 p.m. Music will be provided for dinner and dancing. Signup will begin at 9:30 a.m. Friday, April 21 and close Wednesday, April 26.

When signing up, seniors will be given a table number. Please do not ask to sign up for another, who is not living with you. Any senior who cannot get to the center during the hours it's open may call the director. A non-refunded deposit of $3 will be required to help defray the cost of the social.

Upcoming cuts

I have received many questions on what will happen to the elderly with all the cuts proposed in almost all elder programs. So many are worried, receiving help confined to their homes through Minuteman Home Care services, disability and Medicare through the Social Security, questions on insurance coverage; what will be the best, a Blue Cross policy or one of the leading HMOs; on elder abuse, financial exploitation, and nursing home coverage through Elderly Legal Services and the attorney general's office. What bills will pass through the State Legislature to protect the elderly, how the town will be there to protect the elderly and many more.

To help get some answers on these problems, and others, a large number of experts in the above fields who can answer questions has been invited to the Senior Center Friday, April 28 at 1 p.m.. They include:

Pamela Dashiell for the Sec. of Elder Affairs, Frank Ollivierre, Tom Abbot, director of the Social Security office in Lowell; State Rep. Marianne Brenton; Representing Scott Harshbarger of the attorney general's office, Atty. Joanne Connolly; Rebecca Benson of Elderly Legal Services; Bob O'Byck of Blue Cross; Winn Sargisson, Harvard Medical (HMO); Tufts Medical Secure Horizon Colleen Kelly (HMO); Town Manager Mike Cairra; State Rep. Jim Miceli; State Sen. Bruce Tarr; Ex. Director of Minuteman Home Care, Joan Butler West.

Write questions down for any or all of these experts and get your answer right from the person who will know. This is probably the only opportunity we will have to speak directly to a person who can help us with our problems face to face. It has taken a few months to put the program together. Now all that is needed is for everyone to be on hand to ask questions.

That is all our seniors, those about to become seniors and those caring for an elderly person. We want to fill the center, that is the only way we can get our message across that we don't want any cuts in programs that are essential to the well being of older citizens. Remember the date is Friday, April 28.

Freshman pitcher tosses two hitter in debut

by James Pote

In her pitching debut for the two time division two state softball champs, freshman Catherine Townsend tossed a two hitter in the 10-2 victory for Wilmington over Lowell on Tuesday afternoon. The Wildcats are now 2-0.

Townsend was locked up in a pitcher's duel from the start against her counterpart who was also a freshman. The first two and half innings were scoreless. In the bottom half of the third, Lowell struck for two runs. The first batter singled. The next batter sent a hard grounder to shortstop Laurie Southmayd, who threw the ball into rightfield trying for the first end of the double play. The situation was then first and third with no outs. Those two runners then put on a double steal where the incoming throw from second baseman Nancy Pote sailed over catcher Lisa Southmayd's head. A groundout to Laurie Southmayd brought in the second run.

"I was worried at that point. Our heads were not in the game and that concerned me," said head coach Paul Lyman.

In the top of the fourth, Wilmington's bats started to come alive. Freshman Melissa Mather stroked a gapper for an inside the park homerun to cut the lead in half.

The Cats sent eight batters to the plate in the fifth inning and came away with five runs which broke the game wide open. And those who remember the infamous game last year held in Lowell, where the Red Raiders came away with their first win in seven years, the five run inning was not enough. The Wildcats added four more in the next two innings to put them to 2-0 which includes their interesting win over Andover in their opener held last Wednesday.

"I'm really not pleased so far. It seemed the last couple of innings we settled down and played well. But, we are still making too many mental mistakes," Lyman said.

In that five run fifth inning, the Cats belted the ball around pretty well. Leanne Harris led off the inning with a triple. Nancy Pote followed with a bunt in which the first baseman tried to tag her and missed her - when she tried to nail Harris at home. The game was then tied at two. After Pote stole second, she advanced to third on a double by Laurie Southmayd - with no outs and the chance of the centerfielder making the catch, Lyman didn't take any chances of sending Pote especially after she missed third. Lisa Southmayd followed with a two run single and she scored on a triple by Jacqui Holloway. Holloway made it 6-2 when she scored on a wild pitch.

"We hit the ball real well. The hitters came through when we needed them to. Last year we hit the ball hard but right at their [Lowell's] players and today we found the gaps," Lyman said.

Meanwhile, Townsend was cruising along. Through the first five innings she only gave up one hit, while yielding two walks and striking out one. She was primarily helped out by leftfielder Erin Falzone and shortstop Laurie Southmayd. The former had five putouts through the first five, while the latter had four putouts (through six innings) and she assisted on three others.

"Catherine pitched really well. She was nervous at the start but I thought she did a good job. She pitched it over the plate and that is the key - if our pitchers don't walk batters then we should do alright," Lyman said.

Townsend started the sixth inning off with a free pass and she swiped second and third. Pote, after an out, walked and she too, stole second. Townsend scored in a run down on a grounder to the pitcher, while, Pote scored on a suicide squeeze which made it 8-2.

The seventh inning allowed each of Wilmington's starting players to have at least one hit in the eleven hit affair. Holloway finished up her impressive day at the plate with a single to have her at 3-4 with an rbi. After a sacrifice by Jacqui Hayden, Erin Falzone continued her hot hitting with a rbi double. Townsend then drove Falzone in with a base hit to put the finishing touches on for the 10-2 win.

Last Wednesday, the Wildcats opened up their season at Wilmington High School instead of its usual home games at April Field because the latter is going under some improvements on the field. So, the Cats took on Andover in a very cold and wet afternoon as they came out with a very scary come from behind win after their defense didn't show up for the last inning, in the 8-7 win.

Wilmington struck first in the bottom of the first when Leanne Harris scored on a wild pitch. In the second, Wilmington made it 3-0 in front of pitcher Lindsay Currier, when Erin Falzone sliced a triple down the left field line for one of her three extra base hits to drive in right fielder Kellie O'Donnell. Falzone scored on a Townsend groundout.

Pitcher Lindsay Currier was doing quite well after a shaky start. But, trying to fill in for someone who left with a 48-3 record would be understandable of being a tad nervous. Currier opened the game walking the bases loaded - with the first three batters she faced. The next three - K,K,K. Whose next?

The second inning, was a groundout, strikeout and another strikeout. But, in the third, Andover scored one run on two walks and a wild pitch. The fourth inning was much like the first for Currier, where she walked the first two batters and came back to strike out the side.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, Wilmington added on another run when Townsend singled in Falzone after the left fielder sliced yet another one down the left field line, this one for a double.

Andover scored two in the top of the fifth to make it a 4-3 game. Laurie Southmayd made it 5-3 when she scored on a passed ball.

In the bottom of the sixth, the home town team added two more for a 7-3 lead. Falzone led off with a double, Harris drove her in with a triple and Pote scored Harris with a single. But, what seemed like a secured lead didn't last too long.

Currier started the seventh, in which she gave up three runs, with one unearned, four hits, six walks and she struck out eleven before she entered the last inning. The first two batters she faced in the seventh she walked. The first one was erased when Lisa Southmayd gunned her out at second on an attempted steal. The third batter reached on an error, which brought Lyman out to remove Currier and put in Kelly Landers.

The first two batters Landers faced reached on two separate errors to bring in two runs to make it 7-5 which left the spectators and Lyman and assistant coach Jake Townsend, wondering where the two time champs' gloves were. The top of the order for Andover followed with the lead-off hitter driving in two with a single to tie the game up at seven. It was time for redemption.

Jacqui Holloway lead off the bottom of the seventh reaching second on a two base error. Julie Gillis came in to run for her. Jacqui Hayden bunted to move Gillis to third and Hayden reached on yet another error by the pitcher. Nicole Dussault, like this writer said a few weeks ago, continued to come up big, when she riffled a base hit down the third base line to bring home Gillis and an interesting start to the new season.

Exciting, yet sloppy - but two victories are indeed two victories.

Perfection at its best - well not quite. On a bunt from an Andover player, this is how the WHS softball team executes its defensive play. Lindsay Currier (14) the pitcher gets off the mound trying to get the ball, but, firstbaseman Jacqui Holloway (right) fields the ball where she will be looking for secondbaseman Nancy Pote (background) to be covering first where she is. As noticed, Holloway was going for the sweep tag, but unfortunately she missed the runner. (Photo by Anne DuLong).

Senior pitcher Lindsay Currier lets one fly during her warm-ups while, Nicole Dussault seems more occupied with the style of her hair. (Photo by Anne DuLong).

American League baseball preview

by James Pote
The strike is over and baseball is finally back. Players are exchanging uniforms left and right and the American League East looks to be the toughest division. Here's a glance at Pote's American League picks.

American League East Toronto Blue Jays

With one addition, in David Cone, this team has the talent to win it all again. Cone's presence will allow both Juan Guzman and Pat Hentgen to relax more and pitch the way they can. Last year, Guzman had an E.R.A. of 5.68 - that will most likely not happen again. The rest of the rotation has Al Leiter and Danny Darwin as the number four and five.

The bullpen is great if Duane Ward is healthy and very shaky if he's not. Ward is one of the game's best relievers and last year he only made three appearances. He will probably start off the year on the disabled list with Darren Hall filling his shoes once again. Hall saved 17 games for the Jays in 30 games. But, he did walk 28 batters in 31 plus innings.

The rest of the bullpen seems to have righthanders Danny Cox, Woody Williams and Mike Timlin with southpaws Tony Castillo, Rick Jordan and Paul Spoljaric battling out for jobs.

The offense is very intimidating - if the youngsters come through. Last year they didn't. Carlos Delgado will be behind the plate instead of leftfield where he started off last year. The powerhitting lefthander will be a big plus in the middle of the order if he hits the way he did last April. If he doesn't Randy Knorr will be his back-up.

The infield is one of the best. John Olerud and Roberto Alomar is one of the best rightside tandems in the league. The former is hoping to get his .400 average stride back, while the latter is the best second baseman in the league both offensively and defensively.

The leftside has Ed Sprague at third after a miserable season and Alex Gonzalez, a great prospect at shortstop.

The outfield will consist of Joe Carter in left, Devon White in center and Shaun Green in right.

The keys are White and Green. White has been slowed down the last few years with knee injuries and if he doesn't hit, then the middle of the order will suffer. Green, on the other hand will platoon with Mike Huff and his bat has some pop in it, which like Delgado will help out the middle of the order.

Boston Red Sox

Last year I said the same thing - that the Sox would finish near the top. They had the talent to do so but injuries was a big part of it. But, this year they have the big and powerful bats to do it.

General Manager Dan Duquette was awfully busy this winter making steal after steal after steal. Otis Nixon and Luis Ortiz for Jose Canseco? Ha, ha, ha. Nate Minchey and Jeff McNeely for Luis Alicaia? Thanks. This guy is a genius.

Right now it appears that the team is a few arms short, but Dan is still adding pitching as we speak and maybe he will end up with a Chuck Finley or a Randy Johnson. But, right now I really like the Sox chances of getting the wildcard spot.

The starting rotation appears to have Roger Clemens, Aaron Sele, Zane Smith, Erik Hanson, Frank Rodriguez or Tim Lincecum. With Smith signing on Tuesday, the rotation looks pretty good - especially if Rodriguez or Lincecum come through.

The bullpen is very interesting. Ken Ryan will have veterans Alejandro Pena, Stan Belinda and Derek Lilliquist with Rheal Cormier and rookie Vaughn Eschelman at his side. All but Ryan had tough years last year, but they all seem to be throwing very well.

The line-up is simply awesome. Luis Alicaia is for real and he will have a great year. As will Lee Tinsley if they give him a shot. I also will say that John Valentin and Mike Greenwell will both bat .300 plus with 20 homeruns and 70 plus rbi's. But, Mo Vaughn and Jose Canseco, in my view, will belt 90 homeruns between them with over 200 rbi's. Oh yeah, Mark Whiten and Mike MacFarlane should each had no problem belting 20 out with Whiten coming close to a 100 rbi season.

The bench is very strong, something fans haven't seen in a while. Rich Rowland appears to have the inside track behind the plate, with Reggie Jefferson and Terry Shumpert are showing some power as do back-up outfielders Wes Chamberlain and Troy O'Leary.

If Duquette can get a frontline pitcher and a veteran outfielder with some speed, this team will definitely have the chance to come away as champions. And it will only get better.

New York Yankees

With the additions they came away with, seems like the Yanks have it all to win. But, they will fall flat on their faces. Why? Age, injuries and Wade Boggs.

The starting rotation is good but not that good. Jack McDowell has not been effective at Yankee Stadium and how long with Jimmy Key keep pitching the way he is? The rest of the staff is inconsistent - especially, Melido Perez.

The bullpen has a great, one and two punch, but will Steve Howe remain clean all year? Hmm...probably not, with his track record. Bob Wickman is solid, but Scott Bankhead? Please.

The line-up can be good, but, if the Yanks are expecting to win then they have to get repeat performances from Paul O'Neill (yeah, right), Randy Velarde (not), Wade Boggs and Mike Stanley.

Besides all of that, the team is old and very self-centered. How are they going to keep Boggs, Tony Fernandez, Danny Tartabull, Steve Howe and Jack McDowell all happy? They can't - it's impossible.

Baltimore Orioles

This team always appear strong on paper, but they never seem to come through. True, they do have one of the best one - two starters in the league in Mike Mussina and Ben McDonald, but the rest of it is weak. Kevin Brown and Sid Fernandez are going downhill very fast.

The bullpen has a lot of questions. Doug Jones is getting up there in age, Mark Eichhorn is probably out for most of the year while Alan Mills, Brad Pennington and Arthur Rhodes still continue to struggle.

The team has the potential to win but they never seem to do.

Detroit Tigers

It's hard to understand that the Tigers have a 50 million dollar payroll and they finish close to last place every year. The answer is simple - they have no good pitching and they pay their pitchers like David Wells, Mike Moore and Mike Henneman millions of dollars when they know they aren't going to perform well.

Besides Cecil Fielder and Travis Fryman, remember this name folks, Tony Clark - another powerhitter who will be the American League Rookie of the Year.

American League Central Cleveland Indians

The Tribe should have every opportunity to win it all this season and I certainly think they will. They have everything - pitching, speed, offense, defense and a good bench.

Let's start with the pitching. Charles Nagy, Dennis Martinez, Orel Hershiser, Mark Clark and probably Bud Black is a great starting five. The bullpen lacks a real closer but the combination of Erik Plunk, Paul Assenmacher, Jose Mesa, Paul Shuey and Dennis Cook will all share that role.

The offense is dominating. Kenny Lofton, Carlos Baerga and Albert Belle are the cream of the crop of young stars in the league. In just 112 games last year, Lofton stole 60 bases while scoring 105 runs. The latter two also combined for 54 homeruns in the strike-shortened season.

The rest of the line-up has young stars like Manny Ramirez and Jim Thome who smacked for a combined 37 taters while Eddie Murray, Dave Winfield and defensive phenom, Omar Vizquel at short, will be the veterans.

If one of the starters shall go down, the bench is very strong with Tony Pena backing up Sandy Alomar, and Paul Sorrento, Alvaro Espinoza, Wayne Kirby and Jeremy Burnitz making up the rest of the reserves.

Chicago White Sox

The Sox are another good all around team, that just doesn't have enough to catch the Tribe. And the losses of McDowell, Julio Franco and Darrin Jackson are the prime reason for that.

Frank Thomas can do it all and he will need some help. Chris Sabo will have a better year than this past one but he is not Julio Franco. Third baseman Robin Ventura will have more pressure this year to drive in runs and it seems that he doesn't come through if there isn't a big run producer ahead of him.

The rotation is balanced and very good at times with Alex Fernandez, Wilson Alvarez and Wilmington's own Jason Bere with Jim Abbott and Scott Ruffcorn. But that combination can also be very inconsistent at times, too.

The bullpen is headed by closer Roberto Hernandez and besides him the rest of it is getting very old.

Milwaukee Brewers

The Brewers will always be just mediocre and nothing better. The best part of the Brewers is that Jody Reed turned down a million dollar offer and is unemployed. Last year on the Dodgers, Reed turned down a three year - ten million dollar contract to settle with the Brewers for 600,000 dollars. See what a big head and constant whining can do?

Minnesota Twins

Kirby wants out, Scott Erickson will lose another 20 games and they lost Shane Mack. It's rebuilding chapter number 28 for the Twins.

Kansas City Royals

The Royals would have been a contender for the divisional title until the fire sale had begun.

Last year their starting rotation had David Cone, Kevin Appier, Tom Gordon, Hipolito Pichardo and Mark Gubizca. Cone is gone, Pichardo is in the pen and Jose DeJesus and Chris Hancey will make up those two spots. Cone leaves with a 16-5 record, while the new tandem comes in a combined 5-3.

Bob Hamelin is the lone batter worth watching.

American League West Oakland A's

I'm going to take a chance and say that the A's will take the division because the Mariners will trade Randy Johnson, the Rangers have no idea what they are doing and the Angels are not quite there yet.

I like the A's because they have great management and a good manager to start. And when the strike occurred, this team was just one game out of first place - and they have improved themselves.

The pitching is suspect but they have a lot to choose from. Ron Darling, Steve Karsay, Dave Stewart, Steve Ontiveros, Bob Welch and Todd Van Poppel will battle out for the starting rotation.

Mite B's lose in playoffs

The Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team ended its season traveling to the Pingree rink in Wenham for a playoff game against Masco.

The team was short handed as defenseman Timmy Madden was on a plane to Florida and defenseman Scott Rivers was on a plane to California for spring vacation. However, the Mite B's received a lift when forward Jimmy Fitzpatrick was able to play after his recent accident.

Ray Bennett and Dean Smith were called upon to fill in on defense with Kevin Velardo and Eddie Lopez. This left the forward combinations of Zack Wilkins, Richie Buckley and Bryant Buck on one line and Timmy Aldrich, Jimmy Fitzpatrick and Joey Pino on the other forward line. Jonathan Berkeley was in goal for his third consecutive game. All was ready, with the players listening music from a boom box to get in the mood for the game.

The game started with Masco having several chances, but Jonathan Berkeley was making excellent saves, especially one NHL kick save. Masco kept the pressure on and eventually scored two goals within ten seconds.

Wilmington tried to attack, and had a couple of good chances, one from the point on a hard wrist shot by Kevin Velardo that almost connected, and the other when Bryant Buck fought hard for the puck, but was stopped by the Masco goalie.

The game continued to 4-0, and Wilmington continued to play hard, so hard in fact the team had difficulty in putting five players on the ice that were not hurt.

The Mite B's did not give up and two goals by Dean Smith (assisted by Zack Wilkins) early in the third period gave the team some life. With 3:10 left in the game, Wilmington added some excitement Karsay is a Cy Young candidate if he remains healthy. Darling, Welch, Stewart and Ontiveros must also stay healthy to give the team the innings they badly need. And Van Poppel has had all of the potential to be a star and maybe this is the year for him.

The bullpen is decent. Eckersley will be the closer with Mark Acre, John Briscoe, Bill Taylor and Dave Leiper hoping to repeat their surprising years from last year while, Rick Honeycutt and Greg Cadaret are making their rounds again in an Oakland uniform.

The offense rides on Mark McGwire's shoulders. If he is healthy, then everyone around him will do so much better. Ruben Sierra, Brent Gates and Terry Steinbach will all be boosted by McGwire's presence.

If a centerfielder falls in their lap, then they should run away with this.

Seattle Mariners

With Randy Johnson, the Mariners should compete for the division title, but without him, they will be in the cellar.

This team has a lot of promise but they are depending on a lot of players to come through and with that thought, that is highly unlikely to happen.

Besides Johnson the rotation is very weak. Greg Hibbard will be out until the all-star game and Chris Bosio and Dave Fleming seemed to have lost their touch. Bobby Ayala and Bill Risley are a good start in the pen but the surrounding cast is very suspect.

The catching will get a big boost if Chad Krueter can hit the way he did two years ago. If not, he and Dan Wilson will not help the bottom of the order.

The infield is the team's biggest edge because of its depth. Tino and Edgar Martinez will be at the corners and the latter has to be healthy all season in order for the bats to come alive. The middle consists of Joey Cora at second and Felix Fermin at short unless Alex Rodriguez is ready and Fermin will platoon at second.

The outfield has Ken Griffey junior. Enough said.

California Angels

Newly acquired Tony Phillips will help them, but they gave up on Chad Curtis way too easily. The rest of the team is decent but if the Red Sox get Chuck Finley off them, they too will be looking to crawl out of the cellar.

Texas Rangers

Can someone please tell me in what direction are these guys going in? Yeah, backwards. Let's analyze their offseason moves, shall we.

First they trade Jose Canseco for Otis Nixon and Luis Ortiz. They said they did that trade to help their defense and to free up some money. So, they then sign two pitchers: Kevin Gross and Bob Tewksbury. The former has never won over 12 games in a season and he is 34 years old. The latter is coming off a season in which his E.R.A. could become a zip code and he is 35. Oh yeah, Nixon is 36.

Then they trade for John Burkett but they were afraid that he would cost too much money in arbitration so they didn't resign him, therefore signing Tewksbury.

So now, there rotation has Gross, Tewksbury with Kenny Rogers, Roger Pavlik and Rick Helling. Rogers and Pavlik are solid but also spend frequent times on the disabled list.

And don't you think they would learn that a bullpen that averages about 45 years of age doesn't really help. Lazy year they had Tom Henke, Jay Howell and Rick Honeycutt leading the way and the Rangers folded primarily because there bullpen couldn't get anyone out. So what do they do this year? Yep, go after veterans like Jeff Russell, Roger McDowell and Mark Williamson who are 34, 36 and 33, respectively. And all three of them are coming off years in which the lowest E.R.A. of the three was 5.02.

To add to the stupidity, the team went out and signed Dave Valle to a two year contract after he hit about two bucks - if that. They signed Mark McLemore for second - when they have Jeff Frye who hit .327 last year. And the best move of all is when they signed Mickey Tettleton for the designated hitter spot in place of Canseco. I'm not knocking Tettleton because he was a steal for 500,000 dollars but where is Luis Ortiz going to play? What does that say for the Canseco trade?

I think this is a case of the Lou Gorman past two years at the helm of general manager of signing every veteran over the hill syndrome. The Rangers decided they wanted to have every ex-Red Sox player who is over 35 and besides a few, played terrible in Fenway, a.k.a. Nixon, Russell, Hatcher, Valle and Ortiz. Hey, while they are at it, Matt Young Bob Montgomery and Roger LaFransois are available. Sign em' up.

Pote's picks

Like I said above, I like the Jays, Indians and A's as the three frontrunners with the Sox getting the Wildcard spot. Then for kicks let's say the Tribe beat the Sox in a great series and the Jays take the A's once again easily. Then the Tribe and Jays hook up for seven great back and forth games with the Indians coming out on top.

Wilmington & Tewksbury Boys & Girls Track Meet

It was all red in this rival match-up

by James Pote

The Wilmington and Tewksbury boys and girls track teams met up in a MVC Meet last Wednesday afternoon despite a wet and cold afternoon at the WHS track.

Both the Tewksbury teams swamped over the Wilmington teams. The Cats should be proud that they even got as many points as they did, as both the Tewksbury boys and girls teams are powerhouses to say the least. And this meet was no different.

"This was not a case of running up the score. Early in the season the kids really want to try to qualify for the states and we have already had a lot of them qualify," said Tewksbury boys track coach Steve Levine.

The Redmen boys won outright by a score of 117-28. The Tewksbury girls also won big by a score of 117-14. Let's go through and see how all four teams scored the way they did.

First the boys meet. The two mile run was the first event and Tewksbury's Dan Fitzgerald took first with a 10:54.7 mark with Justin Yentile of Wilmington coming in second and Rick Barker of Tewksbury taking the third spot.

Next event was the pole vault where both teams shared first place. Matt Adams of Tewksbury and Tim Peterson of Wilmington both leaped the ten foot mark.

Moving on to the long jump, Tewksbury took the first two spots with Dan Clark and John Kinnon. Clark finished with a 19'11" hurdle. Mike LaCorcia took the third place spot for the hometowners.

One of Wilmington's two first place getters was by Steve O'Neill in the javelin, where he heaved the 'stick' a 134'9". The rivals took second and third with Steve Silva and Mike Sheeley putting up impressive numbers themselves.

It was all Redmen in the triple jump, shot put, discus, high jump and 110-meter hurdles. John Kinnon, Dan Craig and Kevin Andriolo took the first three places in the triple jump; George Rodgers, John O'Brien and Jon Bombach took the first three in the shot put; Rodgers, Jason Reposa and Sheeley took the trey in the discus; Mike Torode, Reposa and Joshua Bombach were the best three in the high jump and finally Pat Daykin, Josh Bombach and Justin Sullivan were the first to cross the finish line in the 110-meter hurdles.

In the running events, Wilmington started to get back on the board. Torode took home the first in the 100 meter run with Wilmington's Seung Won Kim taking second and Matt Scagran of Tewksbury taking the third spot. Torode took the victory on an impressive 11.8 time.

With a time of 4:54.1, Kevin Andriolo took first in the mile with his teammate Anthony D'Angelo taking third. Pat Rufo was the lone Wildcat to finish in the top three in this event.

Moving over to the four by 110 relay team, it was all red as Chris LeFave, John Kinnon, Jeff Parker and Matt Adams found the white line before the impressive Wilmington combination could.

Mike Torode made it a complete sweep with his third first place finish in the 400 meter run when he finished at 51.8. His teammate Tom Andreason took third sandwiched by Joe Martinello of the blue squad.

With just four events left in the meet, it would be nearly impossible for Wilmington to comeback - and it didn't help matters when they only placed one player in those four events - but the effort was certainly there, it's just that the bomb squad had too many bombs.

Greg Young was that lone Wildcat to place when he took first place honors in the 800 meter run with a time of 1:58 - not bad, huh! Dan LeBoeuf and Andy Beasley, two other all around good athletes, took home second and third, respectively.

Clark, Daykin and Josh Bombach combined for the first three spots in the 300 hurdles, while, Clark, LeFave and Andreason took home the top three in the 200 meter run. Finally, the combo of Parker, Reposa, Fitzgerald and D'Angelo won the mile relay.

Now, to the girls meet. It was all red and blue again and not blue and white.

The Lady Redmen completed nine sweeps of Wilmington. Here's the list:

Two mile - Jennifer Lavalley (11:54.9); Cherly Curtin and Stephanie Clark; Long Jump - Mary Eaton (14'9"), Nicole LeBoeuf and Tiffany Driscoll; Katie Brimer alone in the triple jump (no other finishers); Vanessa Mason (27'7"), Aimee Di-Gampaolo and Meghan Conlon in the shot put; Kristin Powers (13.8), LeBoeuf and Driscoll in the 100 meters; Martha Eaton (6:07.2), Karen Segur and April Lambert in the mile; Powers, Mary Eaton, Driscoll and Kenney in the four by 100 relay team (54 seconds), Mandy DeRouche, Lori Quinn and Becky Snyder in the 800 meter run and finally Mary Eaton, Brimer and McGrath in the 200 meter run.

Wilmington, on the other hand, had two first place finishes in Denise Langone in the javelin with a throw of 89'2" and then Cherice Thresher in the discus at 74'10".

The rest of Tewksbury's victorious athletes were Miriam Solimine and Kelly Livingston who took second and third in the javelin and Vanessa Mason with Sarah Zawacki, who did likewise but in the discus.

Old Green's annual shakedown cruise

by Bill Conlon

When a new ship is launched, the first voyage is a shakedown cruise. The vessel is put through her paces (I refuse to bow to non-sexist vogue when it comes to ships. "She!") and make certain that everything works and everything is aboard. From the engine room to the captain's coffee pot -- everything has to be tried out, and the supplies checked.

But why is it, after 25-odd years in the water, that my banged-up old aluminum jonboat -- Old Green -- needs a new shakedown cruise each spring? Haven't we learned yet?

Poor Old Green. She's seen her share of adventures and she's taken me fishing more times than I can count. She's got silicone sealant on most of her underside rivets, to keep her from shipping water, and the peacock plug disappeared years ago, replaced with a wooden plug hammered into the drain hole. Her hull is about half bare metal and half green paint, and I suspect that there isn't much flotation foam left under her seats after years of raids by family-raising mice.

I bought Old Green back in High School (that was after the dinosaurs but before Cro Magnon) when my old buddy Don owed me $100. He paid it back with the condition that it go toward buying a boat, so we took his pickup to Montgomery Ward's and bought Old Green.

I fished in Old Green constantly, until I went into the Air Force, then my brother kept her afloat, fishing nonstop, until I returned to New England in 1984. Old Green has explored swamps and backwaters, fished in derbies, gone swimming and gotten sunk just for fun, and a bunch of other adventures. I've set down the law that when Old Green retires, I'll sink her in the yard and use her for a flowerbed.

She's a good old boat. She's just light enough to lift, for very short distances, carries four easily, and fits into the back of the pickup like Cinderella's slipper. I can have her loaded and rolling in less than 15 minutes, if the fishing urge strikes, as it will every so often. The tackle box fits there, the battery sits here, the electric motor goes over there, and the rods and oars lay on top of these two seats. All in their place.

Oars? Absolutely! I've seen the electric motor poop out more than once, usually on a day with a nasty storm rising and I'm still more than dogpaddling distance from a dock. And once, the battery ran out as I was battling a head wind, but I'd only brought along one oar. Ever try to row an 11-foot boat in a stiff wind with one oar? Now, I bring both oars, all the time. Always.

This weekend, I finally got to put Old Green on the pond for the first time this spring. The weather was grand, and by Godfrey I needed to go fishing. I wanted to damage the crappie population and put a few pounds of fillets into the freezer, so that my mother-in-law can make her incredible fish chowder. The crappie disagreed, but I did try.

And, as it happens every year, the trip turned into a shakedown.

Did I remember my anchor, on a breezy day? No, of course not. So, I drifted when I wanted to stop. Grrr. Worse, my anchor rope also serves as my oarlocks, so I not only had no anchor, but no locks either. Luckily the battery had a healthy charge, so I didn't need to row.

The wooden stick that keeps Mr. Beep's sonar head in the water had snapped over the winter. Fine. No depth finder on this trip, and Mr. Beep will stay home until I make a new mounting pole. Noted.

A few spots of water crept in, but nothing serious. The silicone held, but I'd better keep the tube handy, just in case. One never knows when some fool will scrape his hull on a rock, turning poor Old Green into a wading pool with bench seats.

I remembered my fish bucket, to carry all the crappie I didn't catch, but I didn't remember my "latrine" bucket. Oops. I got a very soggy lesson, long ago, that it is unlucky to stand up in a boat when it's time to go potty. Use a bucket, please.)

I brought the tackle box, but did I have snap swivels, sharpening stone or splitshot? Nope! They're still in the cannister of ice fishing supplies. Another item forgotten.

Sunglasses, binoculars, a portable radio, something to nibble -- how did I forget them all? Haven't we done this long enough to know what to bring along, Old Green and I?

No, the first trip out is always a shakedown cruise, every year. On the next trip I'll remember all the small things, all the little items that make the trip smoother. For now, it's enough just to get back onto the water. Fishing is its own reward.

And Old Green is back where she belongs -- on the water!

The state is offering a Boating Safety Course at Tewksbury Rod &

Gun Club, from 7 to 9 p.m., on six Thursday nights starting this week.

Here's an interesting book for all local anglers: David S. Kaplan has written the Fishing Guide to South Middlesex Ponds. Kaplan, whose father-in-law is Bert Hadley with Tewksbury PD, covers all of the fishable ponds in an area south of Concord. Included are ponds in Arlington, Marlboro, Winchester, Medford, etc. Kaplan's new work is pretty thorough, including access, water conditions and fishing tips for every pond, plus a directory of tackle shops and an outline of the state Sportfishing Awards. Good stuff, and available at local tackle shops for $14.95. Give it a look!

The Massachusetts Junior Conservation Camp is taking reservations, but you'd better hurry. The two-week camp costs $400 per kid, all expenses included, for the June 27 - July 7 camp. Call (508) 792-7270 to get an application package.

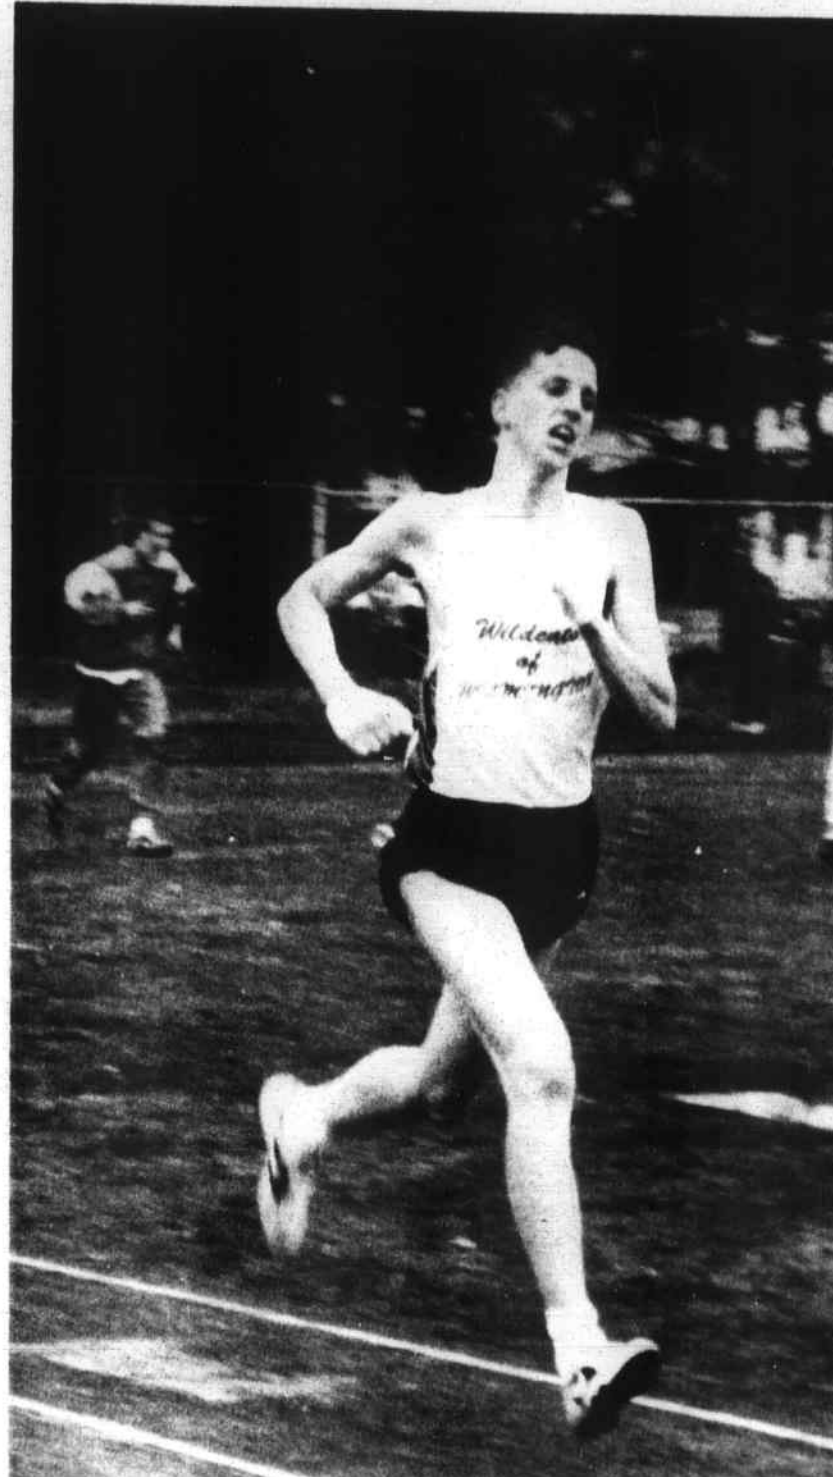

Boat safety clinic

The Tewksbury Rod & Gun Club, 79 Chandler St., Tewksbury will conduct a boating basics safety course from 7 to 9 p.m. April 20, 27 and May 4, 11, 18, and 25.

The safety course, sponsored by the Mass. Environmental Police is offered to the public at no charge. This is an introductory course suitable for people just beginning to get involved in boating. The club encourages young people (minimum age, 10 years) to attend, with their parent(s) if possible. Successful completion of such an approved boating safety course by persons under 16 years of age who wish to operate a motorboat (over 25 horsepower) without adult supervision is required by state regulation.

The primary purpose of the course is to foster safe attitudes by developing an increased awareness of safe boating practices, legal responsibilities and general marine knowledge. The following topics will be addressed: watercraft, accident prevention, legal requirements, safety equipment, safe boat operation, rules of the nautical road, and aids to navigation.

A test will be administered during the final meeting and upon successful completion of the course a safety certificate will be awarded to students. Materials include a free manual and other literature, as well as various audio-visual teaching aids.

College softball player injured while pitching

by James Pote
Former stand-out pitcher at Shawsheen Tech. and Wilmington native Kathy Madden suffered serious injuries last weekend while pitching for the Plymouth State softball team.

Madden, a sophomore, was struck in the face by a line drive while pitching in a game against nationally ranked Eastern Connecticut at the Little East Conference Invitational Tournament held in Willimantic, Connecticut.

Madden was hospitalized with broken bones in her face and jaw as well as other cuts and wounds. She will be out for the remainder of the year.

She has been motorized as PSC best pitcher with a 3-2 record as well as being a great team leader on and off the field.

Squirt C's almost pull off near impossible

by James Pote
Two weeks ago, I wrote what seemed to be my final article of the year as a coach of the Wilmington Squirt C Youth Hockey team. I said that it was impossible for the team to continue their season into the playoffs - but they did. The first place team, New Hampshire East dropped out because of a tournament in Montreal that they had already had plans for. And the Squirts traveled to Merrimack College last Thursday to play Methuen who had beaten them twice, lost to them twice and tied them once. The past was put aside and it was a brand new game.

Wilmington came out flying in the first few minutes. Chris Capozzi scored his first of three goals of the night in the opening minutes from a feed from linemate center Matt Collins.

Methuen scored a shorthanded goal just minutes later on a fluke. On Wilmington's blueline, a Methuen defenseman flipped the puck into goaltender Paul Sferreza. Sferreza didn't see the puck go over his head and into the net until after it did indeed go over his head. The score was tied at one.

Methuen scored another goal about half way through the first period to go up 2-1. Wilmington kept up their hustle and their desire but the offense just couldn't slip one by the netminder.

Meanwhile, Cats' netminder Sferreza was keeping Wilmington in the game with great stops - most especially his glove hand which stopped many great wrist shots.

In the second period, Methuen went up 3-1 on a powerplay goal. But, Wilmington didn't die as Capozzi came right back with his second goal of the night to put Wilmington right back in the game at 3-2.

The game continued to go back and forth with great action. Wilmington went into the final period behind by a goal and hoping they could scrap up a goal or two to put them into the championship game.

About five minutes into the last period, and a mis-communication with the players on the ice, Wilmington was going through a change on the fly - when Methuen skated down untested for their fourth goal of the game. Two minutes later - Capozzi struck again making it 4-3.

With less than two minutes left, Wilmington pulled their goalie and sent Tim Rose out as the extra skater with Collins, Capozzi and Billy Sinopoli line as well as pushing Steve O'Dea up to the fifth forward spot and leaving Mike Senarian as the lone defenseman.

With seconds after Rose went on the ice, it seemed as if Wilmington scored the tying goal. Capozzi shot a bullet in which Collins kept digging in which all of the players on the ice said that the puck was past the infamous red line. The referee disagreed and therefore no goal. After another scoring chance in which one of the players missed the net on a great set-up, the clock said just over a minute was left to play. Since this writer is the coach, it was a time out signal from the bench.

The players got their rest and their strategy they were going to use on the face-off and they were off anxious as ever to put the puck in the net. Collins won the face-off and Capozzi got off another great shot and yet another great save. Methuen then calls timeout.

Again, Wilmington had the same strategy - win the face-off, shot the puck at the net and have three players go to the net for a rebound, tip or a screen. But, they lost the face-off and Methuen ended up putting an empty netter in for the 5-3 win with twenty seconds left on the clock.

Again it was a tremendous but long season. Each player improved so much and every player and coach enjoyed themselves throughout the season. Others agree to that also as this writer was congratulating the Methuen players at the end of the game, the goalie said "you guys have a great team, you gave me a heart attack at the end." That indeed says something, two teams hustling and playing great hockey, showing great team leadership and enjoying something they love. This writer told the Wilmington players at the end of the game that they had no reason whatsoever to hang their heads - they weren't even suppose to be there and they gave Methuen a great ride. They sure did.

Kathy Madden, a Wilmington resident ended her softball season last week at Plymouth State College where she got hit with a line drive.

DiCenso honored

Wilmington resident David DiCenso, was among the three dozen UMass - Lowell and Lowell area middle school students, honored April 6, for academic and athletic achievement as the University celebrated National Student-Athlete Day (NSAD).

Athletes with the highest grade point average on each of the university's 20 varsity teams joined youngsters selected by the Lowell

Boys Club staff for a recognition luncheon. The event, designed in part as an extension of the Athletic Department's wide ranging community outreach program, was attended by University and community leaders.

DiCenso, a finance major with a 3.431 grade point average, is a member of the varsity baseball team where he is a pitcher.

Wilmington Mite B Youth Hockey from page 17

to the game by pulling the goalie. The Wildcats had some good chances but could not score. This then, ended a very successful season, where all the players improved their skills, had fun, and came back with eleven points behind in January to make the playoffs.

Congratulations to all the players and good luck next year to Eddie

Lopez, Richie Buckley, Timmy Madden, and Scott Rivers who move to the Squirts, and to Jimmy Fitzpatrick, Timmy Aldrich, Joey Pino, Bryant Buck, Zack Wilkins, Ray Bennett, Kevin Velardo and Dean Smith who will play at the Mite level, and last but not least to Jonathan Berkeley who will be playing against the Wildcats next year for the Tewksbury Redmen Squirts.

A Prayer to the Blessed Virgin (Never found to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendour of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother.
O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succour me in this necessity; there are none that can withstand your power.
O, show me herein you are my Mother. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)
Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands. (3 times)
Say for 3 consecutive days and publish.
God Bless Y.C.

CCD shows true spirit of Lent

The true spirit of Lent shown through the St. Thomas of Villanova CCD program during the month of March as students worked to provide food donations for the Wilmington Food Commissary. A list of "luxury" items not usually donated to the commissary on a regular basis was given to each class. Lessons in sharing were studied in conjunction with this community service project.

The St. Thomas Parish Charities Committee sponsors a monthly giving to the commissary. Items can be taken to Villanova Hall for collection on the last Sunday of each month.

The Wilmington Community Fund Board of Directors and many wonderful volunteers run the food pantry from the Swain School. Donations are accepted each Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon. Food distribution is on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30. Residents can also leave non-perishable items in their mailboxes for pickup by local mail carriers. The Wilmington Community Fund is now celebrating its 50th anniversary as a community organization.

Through this Lenten project the youth of St. Thomas Parish lived the spirit of the Community Fund: People Helping People. That is what a community is all about! Thank you to all who contributed to this project.

Whether 1775 - 1975 - 1995 John McCauley is part of history

By: James B. Goldsmith

READING - Patriot's Day should mean much more than a long weekend, the Boston Marathon or Spring's first baseball game. John McCauley and his wife pause and reflect on the true importance of April 19, 1775. Two Hundred Twenty years ago April 19, 1775 the sun rose at 5:19 am and the good people of Middlesex County were ready to enjoy an early spring New England Day.

The late editor of The Reading Chronicle, Bruce N. Morang wrote in his Bicentennial supplement to the Chronicle, "So it was that British troops embarked at the foot of Boston Common and Paul Revere began his ride to Lexington in the late evening under a partly cloudy sky. Revere said he noted the moon rising and that the night was 'very pleasant'."

Close your eyes and imagine what Middlesex County looked like 220 years ago; woods and cow paths, ancient houses and barns scattered throughout the virgin territory marked by stone walls crusty with green moss growing on the north side. Then you awake to find a headline in the Village Gazette which leaves you numb with fear: King's Troops Driven Back to Boston-Militia and Minute Men Win Pierce Firefight.

It's Thursday, April 20, 1775 and our nation is at war. Perhaps it's easier to remember what you were doing 20 years ago, April 19, 1975 when we celebrated our nation's 200th birthday.

John F. McCauley of Reading, Commander of all Minutemen (50-60 units) recalls getting up at 4 am and feeling anxious and ill at ease. After all, thousands of people would be jamming all roads to Lexington and Concord today and McCauley wondered if he would get to his assigned parking spot in Concord on time. The events of the historic day unfolded beautifully and the highlight of the day for Mr. McCauley and his family came when the Reading commander says, "The day was hectic. After it was over my wife and I went into Concord Center where some people said to us 'Of all the people we have seen, you are the only two who look right.'"

This was the ultimate compliment on our 18th century clothing." Terese, John McCauley's wife, made uniforms for the Woburn Minutemen in the late 1960's. Since there was no pattern available for britches, she went to Deerfield, MA to find a Revolutionary War uniform, did research on colonial clothing in the library, and cut out patterns before making scores of uniforms.

She was a consultant for many Minutemen groups advising them as to how to make britches.

As we relax with family and friends on Patriot's Day let's take time to remember and honor the 270 men from Reading who fought the advancing British troops at Meriam's Corner, Concord where the red-coats eventually were defeated and retreated to Boston.

Two hundred 20 years ago Easter fell on Sunday, April 16, and the Revolutionary War began Wednesday April 19, 1775. John McCauley loves history and has dedicated his life to studying American History. The stocky round faced museum curator is afraid unless, we as a

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

At my birthday party last month, Aunt Nora led the singing, "Happy Birthday to you. You belong in a zoo. You look like a monkey, and you write like one too."

A friend of mine made almost a million dollars selling men's suits. The poor chap lost it all on one "skirt." Everyone who reads Woodchips knows that I hate long political speeches, Motor mouth oratory and, long-g-g sermons.

My Aunt Nora had a bright idea. She would sit near the door of the church and, as soon as the sermon became boring or repetitive she would pinch the bottom of the babe in her arms, and when the poor kid would start screeching she would get up and leave. Invariably, two or three perfect strangers would get up and leave with her making people believe they were part of the family.

I remember when Officer Kevin Fisher was sent to investigate a complaint that someone was playing a saxophone at 3 o'clock in the morning. Kevin said to the budding musician, "young man, if you insist on playing that instrument at 3 in the morning, you'll have to accompany me." "No problem Sir," the man said, "what song do you wish to sing?"

The apprentice barber who was shaving Frank Hogan asked him, "Sir, what would you like on your face after I'm through shaving you?" A worried nervous Frank Hogan shouted, "MY NOSE!"

My Aunt Nora is in rare form again. She said to me, Chipper, reading Woodchips is like when your Uncle John Shea crossed a crocodile with an abalone and got for his efforts, a 'crock of baloney' and that is what your column is, Fatso."

Frank Lemoure thinks that, Hertz Van Rental was a Dutch Painter.

Dennis Tully asked, Juanita Haas, "do you have any valentines that say, "MY love is for only YOU?" "Yes," Juanita said, "they are right here." "Good," Dennis said, I need six of them."

Well Folks, it was bound to happen. The sermon was so long, a poor chap died right in the pew. The medic's were called and they rushed in with a stretcher. The medic in charge said to the head usher (after carrying out the sixth person) "Well, we finally got the 'RIGHT' one. Note: the sermon droned on through all the commotion.

Most Women I know are like pianos, "Upright," "Polished," and "Grand."

Reasonably priced camp physicals offered by MVNS

For the convenience of parents of children to age 12 who will attend camp this summer, the Melrose Visiting Nurse Service, 50 Tremont St., will again offer camp physicals by a physician for a nominal fee, this year on April 28, June 23 and for those taking late summer programs, July 28.

Physicals will be done by appointment (call 717-665-4800) at the MVNS Well Child Health Center, 50 Tremont St., Melrose. Campers must bring their immunization record, and their camp form(s) that require medical information, with them.

26th annual statewide Walk for Hunger May 7th

Over 46,000 walkers will step out and make a difference at the 26th annual Walk for Hunger on Sunday, May 7th. Project Bread, the sponsor of the Walk for Hunger, expects participants to raise $3 million in pledges to support a record 510 emergency feeding programs in 127 communities in Massachusetts, including one program in Woburn.

Food pantries, soup kitchens and homeless shelter feeding programs state-wide are experiencing dramatic increases in the number of hungry families turning to them for help. In the Past Year, Project Bread's own FoodSource Hotline experienced a 66% increase in the number of calls it received from people in urgent need of food.

According to Linda Scott, Food Pantry Coordinator of the

"Currently, our pantry is providing food for about 250 families each month," said Scott. "The Walk for Hunger is an integral part of our program. Without it, we would not be able to serve nutritious meals to as many families."

Over 800 companies, 3,000 religious, school and community groups and tens of thousands of individuals in Massachusetts are participating in this year's Walk, which Pakciarz says will be the best one ever. "It is important for people to know that when they walk for Hunger they not only help a wonderful cause, but have a wonderful time, as well." Over 100 entertainers will perform at 20 locations along the Walk route, and free snacks and drinks will be offered to walkers throughout the day.

I am young but not invincible. This I am wise enough to know. So many questions race through my mind about my mother. About me. About breast cancer. There's a history of it in our family. But the team at the Winchester Hospital Breast Care Center explained during an evaluation there's a lot you can learn about breast health. They try to teach women not to be afraid but to know. The center has all sorts of material on the subject, even a nurse coordinator that I can call if I have a question or concern. One of these days. I may even take a class or a seminar. The more I know, the less I'll have to fear. I am young but not invincible.

Earth Day celebration at Fells for bikers and hikers

The Friends of the Fells Plan Earth Day Activities with Mountain Bikers on Saturday, April 22, from 9 am to 1 pm. will meet at the Sheepfold, Rte 28 in Stoneham.

From 9 to 11 am, the Friends of the Fells will join members of the New England Mountain Bike Association (NEMBA) in the first combined Spring clean-up effort. We'll pick up trash, bottles and cans. Unfortunately, there's plenty to do. Please bring work gloves and several large garbage bags. Hikers and cyclists will have a great opportunity to learn from each other.

Then from 11 am to 1 pm, members will participate in the Hiker-Biker Switch. NEMBA members will lend their bikes to any hiker interested in trying a mountain bike! NEMBA will provide how-to clinics and guided rides. Belmont WheelWorks will provide loaner helmets and helmet fittings. Cyclists will be prepared to hike instead of ride.

Mark Wickersham, Middlesex Fells Coordinator of NEMBA says, "In the spirit of Earth Day, this experience will be an excellent way for the two organizations to build a partnership. The combined resources will have a more positive effect on the property then if the two organizations work separately. This day will also be a lot of fun!" Mark hopes hikers will experience the property in a different manner and learn an appreciation for mountain biking. Cyclists will gain a similar understanding and learn what it is like to hike the Fells.

This program is free and open to the public. For information about this event other programs presented by the Friends of the Middlesex Fells or membership, call The Friends of The Fells at 617-396-5118. Call NEMBA at 617-924-7466.

nation, read and understand our history we won't pass along this vital information to future generations.

He says, "Today we negate the true meaning of what these holidays (Christmas, Patriot's Day, Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays) mean. There's a convenience factor; we change holidays to Monday so we can have a long weekend (I'm afraid) the next generation won't know or understand the true meaning of these holidays."

John McCauley has had a lingering love affair with history that predates his love for Terese who he has known since they grew up in Woburn fifty-one years ago. Area residents may remember John McCauley the optometrist in Woburn, a practice he pursued for 30 years.

However, optometry wasn't his true calling and in 1977 he decided to enroll at Northeastern University where he earned a masters degree in history and a certificate in museum studies.

When he was in his early 50's when most people are either happily employed or in a rut, John McCauley, with the support and blessing of Terese, applied for and was selected curator of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company Museum at Fanueil Hall (Quincy Market) Boston.

The grey haired man says with satisfaction, "I turned a hobby into a living." As you enjoy your long holiday weekend take time to reflect upon the real meaning of April 19. From The Old North Church in Boston, Paul Revere's ride to warn the folks in Middlesex County that the British were coming, to our nation's Bicentennial celebration. It's a rich tradition steeped in courage and sacrifice, one well worth taking the time to understand and perpetuate.

A CONTEMPORARY VIEW

William Fowler a history professor and Reading resident has a contemporary point of view on Patriot's Day. Prof. Fowler teaches The History of The American Revolution at Northeastern University so this writer asked him to comment on what he believes Patriot's Day means to most people living in Middlesex County.

He says, "We live in a world today where standing up for your rights means going to court. In 1775 standing up for your rights meant putting your life on the line."

"1775 marked the beginning of the republic; strength of community, with people standing together, coming together as a group, sharing values. (Today) It's a sad commentary when (only 21% of eligible voters in Reading voted in the last town election 3/21/95.) I didn't have to stand in line to vote."

Organ donors needed

Brenda Butler knows one family's decision to donate the heart of their dying daughter came at a difficult and painful time.

But, she also knows that heart gave her a second chance at life, something for which she is eternally grateful.

"It was a conflict of emotions. I was elated they found a heart for me, but was saddened that someone had to die for me to live," said the 48 year old Jamaica Plain resident. However, she said "The gift itself can turn a tragedy into a celebration of life, both for the person that was the donor and the recipient."

When Butler began having heart trouble in 1989, she was told by her doctor it was likely stress induced. When her condition failed to improve, she consulted another doctor who put her on digitalis.

"Instead of getting better, I got worse," She said. She was eventually diagnosed with cardiomyopathy, an inflammation of the heart. Because there was no history of heart disease in her family, her doctor concluded she probably had a virus at some time that caused her heart to enlarge.

Butler agreed to participate in a treatment study, but her condition continued to decline, and she was in and out of the hospital.

"My doctor started to closely monitor me. I went in for a checkup, and was told to check in. They wanted to keep me going either through medication or machines until a donor could be found," Butler said.

Craig Amsden told me that "Bananas" are good for the eyesight. He defends his theory saying, "Have you ever seen a 'Monkey' wearing 'Glasses'?"

Kathy said to me, "Here Chipper, this letter is for you. I thought it was for me and, I, 'Steamed' it open by mistake."

I told Richie Travers, "wear two pairs of pants when you go golfing in case you get a, 'Hole in One.' Don Harris told me, 'Colors fade.' Temples crumble-empire fall, but Wise Words endure forever that's why the words you write Chipper, will be forgotten tomorrow."

I asked Angie Quinno why her husband Jimmy was sleeping during the day? "I think it's 'Spring Fever,' she replied. "He caught it in the spring of 1985."

O'Kay, so you think you'd make a fine radio or television announcer. Well, try saying the following without stumbling, "A box of biscuits. A box of mixed biscuits, and a biscuit mixer."

You may qualify as an announcer for the powerful "little five water" in Nashville, Tennessee.

Richie Hamel of Winchester told me that Indians were in America before Columbus, because they had, reservations. The average woman would rather have beauty than brains because, the average man can 'see' better than he can think.

Mario Di Mino got a job in a rubber ball factory as a "Bouncer." Mario doesn't really have to work. His late father owned two laundries and he left him quite a "Bundle."

Folks if you remember anyone of these expressions then, you are probable as old as me "Twenty Two Skidoo." "Cute as a button." "Does your mother know you're out, Cecelia?"

Just between you, me and the lamppost. "She was pure as the driven snow but Oh! how she drifted." "That's the kind of a hairpin I am," and of course, "Tippy canoe and Tyler too." Hey, wait a minute I'm not that old!

Kathy went to the doctor's last week complaining that when she gets up in the morning she's dizzy for a half hour then she is O'Kay the rest of the day. The doctor said, "the remedy is simple, just get up a half hour later."

Folks take a tip from the ole Woodchipper, Please try NOT to tell anyone your troubles. Fifty percent aren't listening, 30 percent don't care and, 15 percent are glad you have them. The other 5 percent don't have their hearing aids on.

There is no one with endurance like the man or woman who sells insurance. But, there's a stock broker who comes real close. He has called my Aunt Norra up on the phone every night for a week, trying to sell her a stock that he said will go up like a skyrocket.

He wouldn't take, "No" for an answer. His last pitch was when he said, "buy this stock and I guarantee it will triple in value in ten years." "Look here Sonny," Aunt Nora exclaimed, "I'm 89 years old, I don't even buy, Green Bananas!"

Wakefield goes for good buddies

Thanks to a model "buddy up" strategy which pairs one elementary school student with one high school friend, Jane Porter's Wakefield High students are teaming up with Peggy Crabb Schleicher's Chapter I Franklin School students, and the result, say Porter and Crabb, is "a wonderful, new collaboration."

Once a week, high school students Michael Agri, Mark Eno, Tony Masiello, Jill Waters, Stephanie Beagan, and Heather Szabo rendezvous with their buddies in the Chapter I room, where the fun begins "for both big and little buddies alike."

"From our official greeting at the classroom door to our ending 'team cheer,' we are all engaged in positive interactive conversation, and tutorial learning," say the buddies-in-charge. "Our group begins with a 'heart talk' so that we can share our ideas and feelings. The most common thought expressed is our pleasure at being together and our eagerness to continue our work."

Partners select one of six available work stations: the 'get ahead' area is set up for homework support; the 'brain station' always offers a thinking, problem-solving activity; the 'on-line corner' has "ready to go" computers; the 'book-it' area is set aside for reading and writing book reports; the 'your move' area is filled with educational games; and the 'craft table' encourages a variety of creativity.

There's still time, however, for the important things - like snacks, more "heart talks," a sprinkle of Schleicher's magic dust, and plans for the next week.

"The 'buddy up' program is an exciting and beneficial strategy that provides a meaningful experience for all involved" is the report from Buddy Central. "The young students are encouraged and motivated by their company, Marine detachment, aviation Division and flag personnel that served or are serving aboard cruiser's.

Associate memberships are available for past and present Navy men and women, reservists, widows of cruiser-men and interested individuals, for information contact: Ronald J. Maciejowski (U.S.S. Worcester CL-144), Secretary, U.S.N.C.S.A., 55 Dona Terrace, Taunton, 02780."

'Heart talks' & 'magic dust' on-line, lakeside teen models. Receiving this type of positive attention from a personal high school buddy is highly valued by a younger child whose self-esteem is enhanced and whose eagerness to learn is multiplied.

"Educational research indicates that modeling is a powerful tool in teaching and learning," says Schleicher. "The correlation also exists between academic success and positive self-esteem but to me, the real proof of the program's success is seen in the smiling eyes of the students."

She extends "a huge thank-you" to the six "wonderful" high school big buddies and role models.

Tewksbury tackles parent-teacher talk

At 7 p.m. on Tuesday, April 25th, the Tewksbury Townwide Parents Advisory Council and the Tewksbury Teacher Association will focus on strategies for developing effective home-school communications.

That evening, Dr. Janice Magno, of the UMASS-Boston Center for Social Development and Education will address strategies for communicating effectively with your child's teacher; how to prepare for a parental conference, and assessing how your child is progressing in school.

For more information, contact the office of Tewksbury Superintendent of Schools Dr. Christine McGrath at (508)851-7347.

Computers R Them

The Northeast MetroTech Computer Day Camp - for students in grades one through eight - has a new look this year. The theme is "learning through fun" and the object is to teach campers skills they can apply to their school work - whether that be on the computer, in the pool or on the playing field.

The two-week camp meets from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., following a rotating schedule of computer lab, swimming, and sports and games.

One teacher and two aides run the computer lab during which children are assigned for an hour to one of the lab's 24 IBM-compatible computers. Depending on their computer background, children will be individually instructed in basic computer use and will work on educational game software in the following areas: basic computer literacy, keyboarding skill, language arts, math, social studies, science, and reasoning.

Software offerings run from "Ace Detective" to "Amazon Trail," "Jeopardy," "Kid Keys," "Lemmings," "Math Blaster," "Whales," "Wheel of Fortune," "Year 2 Learn," and many more.

Only 72 campers are accepted at each session. The first session runs from July 24th to August 4th; the second from August 7th to August 18th. For more information, contact Director Jay Crowley via the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School at (617)246-0810, 100 Hemlock Rd. in Wakefield.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

Noted artist to critique paintings

The name "George Shedd" is well known and respected in the art community, and he is coming to Wilmington! The Arts Council is sponsoring his appearance at the Arts Center on Friday, April 21, at 7 pm.

As Mr. Shedd states, "The wonderful handiwork of the early builders and craftsmen of our country gives me all the inspirations I need for my paintings. Preserving these gems in watercolor, softening their lines with summer flowers or winter snow, is a great satisfaction for me."

Among others are his memberships in the American Watercolor Society and the Allied Artists of America.

He was educated at the Massachusetts College of Art and the School of the Museum of Fine Arts.

He has been the recipient of many awards, some of which are the following most recent:

- Hunter Award, Allied Artists, 1991
- Isenberg Award, Salmagundi Club, 1992
- New England Watercolor Society Awards, 1993
- New England Watercolor Society Awards, 1994.

For his April 21st presentation in Wilmington Mr. Shedd will critique individual paintings by members of the audience. There will be no charge for this and artists and would be artists are invited to bring their pictures and see what Mr. Shedd has to say about them.

Victorian Melrose Society tea

The Victorian Melrose Society is sponsoring a series of benefit teas at private Victorian homes in Melrose to raise funds for special programs of the Society.

The first in the series was a "Sweetheart Tea" on February 12. The next in the series will be an Indoor Garden Tea on April 23rd, followed by a Mothers' Day Tea on May 7. A Picnic Tea is being planned for June. All teas are on Sunday afternoons from two until four o'clock, and the requested donation is $10 dollars per adult.

Space is limited and reservations are required. To make reservations, for more information or to be put on the mailing list contact Barbara Gilchrist, 665-9672.

New program may be able to help

Pregnant and no insurance?

All-Plan offered by Clinigen.

Dr. Yean-Kai Tsung was born in the southern part of Taiwan and came to University of Illinois-Champaign, Urbana to study Genetics in 1969. He graduated in 1974 with his Ph.D. degree. Tsung met his wife, Nancy, and they settled down in the states with their two children. After graduation, he taught Genetics in the University of Michigan for two years. Subsequently, he went to Duke University and the Eunice K. Shriver Center for mental retardation post-doctor training.

He then joined the faculty of Boston University at the Center for Human Genetics until 1993. With more than 15 years of experience in Human Genetics and Prenatal Diagnosis, he set up the Clinigen.

Clinigen employs state of the art technology and rigorous quality control to insure reliable and accurate diagnosis. Clinigen offers maternal serum triple screening and all phases of cytogenetic services. Clinigen is conveniently located in Woburn at Cummings Park.

Maternal serum triple screening is a vital part of prenatal care. Pregnant women under the age of 35 will be tested for the concentration of protein and hormones. The tests will be expressed in terms of risks for neural tube defects and Down's syndrome. The tests can be easily done by using blood drawn at 16 weeks of pregnancy. Maternal serum triple screening helps in the detection of 81% of Down's pregnancy, and is more efficient in doing so than any other means.

Several follow up tests will be carried out if the results of triple screening are abnormal. These follow up tests include genetic counseling, amniocentesis and amniotic cell chromosome analysis. Pregnant women over the age of 35 are recommended to have amniocentesis and amniotic cell chromosome analysis and other tests done to ensure the health of the fetus.

Dr. Tsung is a firm believer that all benefits he received from the communities should go back to where they come from. Clinigen takes pride in excellence and the results will be accurate and the cost will be the lowest.

Northshore Women in Business to meet

North Shore Women In Business invites persons to its next breakfast forum on Thursday, April 20, at 7:30 am at Jakes Restaurant in Danvers. The breakfast is $8 for members who reserve a place in advance, $10 for members at the door and $12 for guests.

Presenting that morning will be special guest, Dorothy Chen-Courtin, Director of Marketing and Public Relations at the Peabody Essex Museum.

Entitled "What Our Customers Want, Year 2000." Chen-Courtin will address the issue of how success in business has always depended on a fundamental understanding of consumer needs and wants. However, consumer behavior during the last decades of the 20th century had confounded marketers who looked to the past for insights. The speaker will explore some key consumer trends in mid-decade that businesses can use to anticipate customers wants at the turn of the century.

For more information on upcoming events or membership, please call North Shore Women In Business at (508)532-1175.

"Rob Roy" - Short Takes

heart of the story. Well, this lively, high-energy 18th century drama is a lusty as it is visually lush. In the title role, Liam Neeson never lets you forget for one moment that his ever so honorable head of the MacGregor Clan is painfully human. He may be trying to live an honest life, but his good intentions are sorely tested by the blighters around him.

clans were under the "protection" of the British. In order to keep his people from starving through another winter, MacGregor begs a loan from the local Marquis. But MacGregor is played for a fool by Cunningham (Tim Roth), a penniless and self-serving sycophant under the Marquis' protection.

One act of betrayal leads to another, and soon Rob Roy is an outlaw wanted by the British, who think nothing of going after his family.

Treachery is an art form in this flick, and no one has mastered it better than Roth's black-hearted Cunningham.

Neeson may be intense and foreboding as the great hulking Scot, but Roth is utterly amazing as the toadying, smarmy pretender constantly scheming for his own best interests. An egocentric sociopath, Cunningham plays the fop, but has the skill to cut your heart out and would do it without a moment's hesitation. Roth plays this character with remarkable elan, turning out a villainous performance that will long be remembered. Though John Hurt is deliciously decadent as the Marquis, his cold heartedness pales next to Roth's oozing evil.

Lange captured a wonderful assignment as Mary, MacGregor's wife. Every bit his partner, she matches Neeson's strength and passion, and adds a rare quality of dignity to her fiery performance. You never doubt the unquavering bond between Mary and her husband, as Lange and Neeson make you believe that these two still yearn for one another, even after many years of marriage.

You could almost count the verdant Scottish highlands as another character. Director Michael Caton-Jones's camera enhances the importance of those hills, where the scenery is to be both enjoyed and endured by locals trying to eke out a living. Then again, Caton-Jones does a superb job of capturing the atmosphere of that era. The lyrical language of the clansman in off-set by the bawdy behavior of their "betters." The refinements of court life are shown, complete with magnificently manicured gardens, but we are never spared the earthiness of the daily existence of people who lived close to the land.

Caton-Jones used a lot of visual tricks to underscore dramatic tension, one of the best being the simple editing device in which he cuts back and forth between the stalking of an innocent man in the woods to the exquisite a cappella singing of a young woman at a clan gathering. Her song becomes ever more eerie as we watch the lethal cat and mouse game.

That tension is carried right through to the end, because as grand and sweeping as this movie is, its impact is derived from the personal dimensions. It boils down to intriguing characters we can believe in, whether we like them or not.

Short Takes

Circle of Friends is a rich tale of romance and friendship based on Maeve Binchy's best-selling novel. Set in Dublin in the 1950's, this underscores the awkwardness of teens tripping into adulthood, the heartache of first love, and the strong sting of faithless friends. Minnie Driver is captivating as the awkward college freshman who falls for the handsome Chris O'Donnell. Director Pat O'Connor captures the layers of emotion, both hurtful and humorous, that make up the human psyche. The Irish scenery is great, too. Rated PG-13. 1/2.

Don Juan DeMarco is a sentimental and lovely little bagatelle. Johnny Depp is a charming young man who has opted to be the famous Castilian lover, Marlon Brando is the psychiatrist who must convince him to seek an alternative lifestyle. Problem is, Brando likes the kid's world better than his own. Poses some interesting questions about what society accepts as normal, and so romantic you'll sigh. Just a bit too slight, however, and Brando is still
